FOREIGN OFFICE SCANDAL.

HIGH OFFICIAL DISMISSED THE SERVICE.

MR. O'MALLEY, OF HANKOW FAME, INITIATES SPECULATIONS.

THE REDEEMING FEATURE.

London, Feb. 27.

The Board of Enquiry appointed by Mr. Stanley Baldwin as a sequel to the case in which Mrs. Dyne was ordered to pay £38,000 and costs to a firm of foreign bankers, evidence in which revealed that important officials in the Foreign Office were involved, has concluded its sittings.

As the result of the Board's findings, Sir Austen Chamberlain, who joined the Premier in directing the Board's appointment, has directed that

Mr. J. D. Gregory, the Assistant Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, be dismissed;

Commander Maxse be severely reprimanded, and to forfeit three years' seniority; while

Mr. O. St. C. O'Malley, the negotiator of the famous Hankow agreement, who was also involved, be permitted to resign.

Sir Austen Chamberlain adds to the announcement, a minute that he was glad to observe that serious as were the offences from the Civil Service point of view, there was no question of corruption, or of the use of official information.

A transaction by Sir Miles Lampson in 1920 was mentioned by the Board of Inquiry, who commented that while they regarded the purchase of foreign currency by a member of the Diplomatic Service as undesirable, it had nothing in common with a gamble in difference.

ZINOVIEFF LETTER ACCUSATIONS

The report of the Board reveals that all three officials lost in franc speculations. Mr. J. D. Gregory lost about £20,000; Commander Maxse, over £3,000; and Mr. O'Malley just over £100.

Huge Transactions.

It was established that in 1923, Mr. Gregory speculated jointly with Mrs. Dyne, the defendant in the action, and continued to do so until 1925. Mrs. Dyne was the wife of one of his former school-fellows. Between them they dealt with approximately 250,000,000 francs.

After 1925, Mr. Gregory continued his speculations separately, his manipulations then involving a further 40,000,000 francs.

Apparently Mr. O. St. C. O'Malley was the initiator of the whole business, but his personal transactions were infinitely smaller, and of shorter duration.

Accusation Baseless.

The notorious Zinovieff Letter of October, 1924, was mentioned by the Board of Enquiry, which recalls that on October 25th, 1924, a letter addressed by the Foreign Office to the Soviet Ambassador in connection with the Zinovieff Letter was signed by Mr. Gregory "in the absence of the Secretary of State."

The Board recalls that the circumstances of its despatch and publication became the subject of acute political controversy and there arose suspicions that Gregory deliberately attempted to compromise Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's Government by "going to the Board regarding past investigations behind the ex-Premier's back" a month, the view is expressed of the few days before the General Election, simultaneously to serve his own financial ends.

The Board finds the accusation against Mr. Gregory to be baseless, as the late Sir Eyre Crowe, less as the Permanent Under-Secretary of the Foreign Office, was responsible for the decision to send the letter, following instructions from Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.

Mr. Gregory's signature to the note was just a matter of routine.

Ought to Have Known Better.

London, Feb. 27.

The report of the Board of Inquiry is a lengthy document, compiled after much evidence had been taken and is divided into three parts.

The first deals with the cases of the three Foreign Office officials connected with the speculation in foreign currency. The Board came to the conclusion that while Gregory, O'Malley and Maxse neither used, nor endeavored to use, any official information for the purpose of their transactions, such transactions ought never to have been undertaken by civil servants, and least of all by those to whom, from the nature of their work, the sensitiveness and suspicions of foreign countries with regard to such dealings in their currencies cannot have been unfamiliar.

Conscious of Impropriety.

The action of these three officials in the view of the Board was inconsistent with their obligations as civil servants.

Regarding Mr. Gregory, the Board says: "We cannot doubt he was conscious of the impropriety of what he was doing, and we do not regard it as a sufficient excuse that he did not at any time make use of official information for his private ends."

The case of Mr. O'Malley, who initiated the business, the Board regards as "distinguishable from Mr. Gregory's only by the smaller volume and the shorter duration of his transactions."

They think extenuating circumstances are admissible in Commander Maxse's case.

Information Volunteered.

The second part of the report publication deals with the question whether acute political controversy and other civil servants have been engaged in similar transactions. In Gregory's case, the Board is of opinion that he was conscious of the impropriety of what he was doing, and we do not regard it as a sufficient excuse that he did not at any time make use of official information for his private ends."

The case of Mr. O'Malley, who initiated the business, the Board regards as "distinguishable from Mr. Gregory's only by the smaller volume and the shorter duration of his transactions."

CAVELL WAR FILM DISPUTE.

EXECUTION SCENE DETAILED.

SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN'S STRONG CRITICISM.

PRODUCER'S DEFENCE.

London, Feb. 27.

The controversy concerning the film "Dawn," depicting the famous story of Nurse Edith Cavell, is not yet settled, in spite of the refusal of the British Board of Film Censors to permit its exhibition in Great Britain.

The matter was brought up to-day in the House of Commons at question-time, when the Dominions' Secretary was asked for the Government's proposals regarding its exhibition in other parts of the Empire.

Lieut. Col. L. C. M. S. Amery replied that it was not proposed, nor had it been requested, to communicate with the Governments of the Dominions, or any other part of the Empire, regarding the exhibition of the Cavell film.

The Execution.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, who has taken a big interest in the controversy, quoted from the report of the Government technical adviser, who received from the producer, Mr. Wilcox, a description of the execution scene.

Apparently the scene shows a member of the firing party refusing to level his rifle, and he is shot dead. The remainder of the party fire above Nurse Cavell's head, the heroine faints, and the German officer advances and despatches her.

"Wholly Apocryphal."

Sir Austen Chamberlain added: "I believe that the account of the execution is wholly apocryphal, and I feel it is an outrage against this noble woman's memory to turn to purposes of commercial profit so heroic a story."

Replying to supplementary questions as to the measures to be taken to prevent a repetition of such an unfortunate controversy, Sir Austen Chamberlain said: "I am not dealing with the general censorship of films."

"I am speaking as an English gentleman about what I think is an outrage on humanity." Loud cheers greeted the Foreign Secretary's remark.

Mr. Wilcox's Explanation.

Mr. Wilcox, the producer of the war film "Dawn," in reply to Sir Austen Chamberlain, states that the scenes as described by the Foreign Secretary do not form part of the film nor were they ever taken.

He says that the actual shooting of the soldier who refused to fire and the shooting of Nurse Cavell by the officer are not shown in the picture, but are merely indicated.

He points out that no Government official in any capacity has seen the film, and he declares that he has arranged to show it in Berlin privately next week.

Exchanges.

Dealing with the position of civil servants generally, the report concludes: "The public expects from them a standard of integrity and conduct not only inflexible but fastidious, and has not been disappointed in the past. We are expressing the view of the Service when we say the public has the right to expect that standard, and that it is the duty of the Service to see that expectation fulfilled."

Later.

Information obtained from many sources led the Board of Inquiry to conclude that rumours of many Civil Servants being involved in such transactions are groundless.

The report refers to Sir Miles Lampson, the British Minister to Peking, buying jointly with his wife, £1,000 worth of French francs in 1920, which he sold later at a profit of £135. The Board of Inquiry states that they regard such a purchase of foreign currency by a member of the Diplomatic Service as undesirable, even though it was a single transaction.

U.S. POLICY IN CHINA.

MINISTER DENIES ANY CHANGE MADE.

"PULL TOGETHER."

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, Feb. 28.

Speaking at a representative banquet given in his honour by Shanghai Americans, Mr. J. V. A. MacMurray, the United States Minister to China, disclaimed any change in America's policy towards China, which was, however, adaptable to changing circumstances.

Mr. MacMurray said the objectives of America's policy remained unaltered. They were fairness to the Chinese and fairness to other nationalities—a simple, straightforward, and honourable policy.

The Minister added that he welcomed the change amongst the American community, shown by the fact that the merchant and the missionary were realising the oneness of their interests. Extremes were disappearing and tolerance ensuing. "All were sitting in the same boat, bound for a common destination, and the time had come to pull together."

Other speakers dwelt on the insidious ramifications of the "Red" terror; the President of the American Chamber of Commerce stressing the treacherous activities of Soviet inspired journalists in betraying their own country by malicious written propaganda.

THE "ALCANTARA" TRAGEDY.

MYSTERIOUS "ALL CLEAR" SIGNAL EXPLAINED.

RUSSIAN'S EFFORTS.

London, Feb. 27.

The mysterious "all clear" signal, which delayed rescue efforts in connexion with the Alcantara disaster, has been explained by Captain Friedman, of the Russian barque Tovaritch.

In an interview at Southampton, Captain Friedman declared that the steamer Baron Douglas came alongside in response to the S.O.S. and when told that the Tovaritch was in no immediate danger, but perhaps some of the crew of the other vessel were in the water, the Baron Douglas went off presumably to render assistance.

Then more wireless messages were received, to which the Tovaritch replied "All clear" meaning as regards herself, but she broadcast all stations giving the place of the collision, stating that men might be in the water.

The Tovaritch being a sailing vessel was unable to manoeuvre to stand by the ill fated Alcantara, but lowered several boats immediately it was possible. It took, however, half an hour to slow up sufficiently to be able to launch them.

NO MULTILATERAL TREATY.

BRITAIN'S NEGOTIATIONS WITH U.S.A.

London, Feb. 27.

Sir Austen Chamberlain replied in the negative when asked in the House of Commons at question time whether America had offered Great Britain a multilateral treaty similar to that offered to France. The reply covered a further question as to whether negotiations concerning such a treaty were not proceeding.

CANTON EXCITED OVER ARREST.

PANG PAI TRACKED DOWN.

SUSPECTED OF BEING HOIFUNG RED LEADER.

VIGOROUS DENIALS.

Considerable excitement has been caused in Canton, according to Chinese reports, by reason of the arrest of Chinese who is suspected to be Pang Pai, the notorious Communist chief of the Hai-Luk Fung Society.

It is known that on Sunday a man who gave his name as Pang Pai was arrested, but although there is said to be evidence of identification, the man himself denies that he is the Chinese Soviet leader. Investigations by the police are still being held, and it is said that General Li Chai-sum himself presided at a trial which was held immediately after the man's arrest.

Story of Arrest.

The story of the arrest, as it was recorded in vernacular papers, is to the effect that two officials, of the Headquarters of Li Chai-sum's Army, were having their dinner at the Luk Yuen tea-house, opposite the Canton Treasury, on Sunday at about noon. While the couple was chatting over a cup of tea, one of them noticed that at one of the tables was a party amongst whom was a man who resembled Pang Pai, the Communist leader.

At the time, one of the officials happened to have in his pocket a newspaper reproduction of the photo of Pang Pai, and he promptly took this out and compared it with the suspected man. The resemblance being borne out, the two officials resolved to keep a sharp look-out on the movements of this man.

When the suspect left the tea-house, the officials followed him up. From Wing Hon Road, the man was seen to walk into Tai Nei Road, then to Cheung Hing San Street, where he entered a book store. Fearing that the suspect might endeavour to elude them, the officials approached him and effected his arrest.

Vigorous Denial.

When taken to the Headquarters of the Eighth Expedition Army, the man admitted that his name was Pang Pai, but added that he was not the "Red" leader of Hoifung and Lukfung Districts. He said the latter was a Holo, while he, himself, was a native of Punyu and he could speak Cantonese fluently. Furthermore, the prisoner said he was acquainted with General Li Chai-sum and that at one time he was an officer of a certain Division of the Canton troops.

Later, when General Li Chai-sum was informed of the arrest, he attended the trial, but is said to have declared that he could not recall having made the acquaintance of the man before. The prisoner, however, persisted that he was with the Canton Army at one time and that he was in no way connected with the "Red" reign in the Hoifung and Lukfung districts.

Book Store Raided.

Subsequently, a party of soldiers raided the book store, and the whole premises were thoroughly searched, but it is not known whether they secured any evidence against the accused. The trial of the prisoner continued up to a late hour on Sunday night and the latest information from the Headquarters is to the effect that, other than the man's name, there is as yet no evidence confirming the suspicion that he is the Communist leader.

STRIKING RUBBER FIGURES.

FOREIGN PRODUCTION MAKES RAPID ADVANCE.

RESTRICTION EFFECT.

London, Feb. 27.

In the House of Commons at question time, Mr. Amery, the Dominions Secretary, said that the rubber production of the British Empire in 1921 was 203,000 tons compared with 97,000 tons by foreign countries.

In 1927 the figures were: British Empire, 344,000 tons; foreign countries, 268,000 tons. He pointed out that the production of British companies in foreign countries were included in the figures for the latter.

Colombo, Feb. 27.

Mr. J. Wall, presiding at the annual meeting of the Ceylon Chamber of Commerce, expressed the opinion that with the established use of reclaimed rubber and the ever-increasing output of the Dutch East Indies, it was difficult to find a reasonable argument in favour of the continuance of the Stevenson Restriction Scheme.

The speaker added that "unless Dutch interests are prepared to join us, we are bound to weaken our own position eventually by continuing in our efforts to control the position by restricting exports."

Important Dutch Meeting.

Amsterdam, Feb. 27.

Great importance is attached to a meeting of the Dutch rubber growers of the East Indies to be held at the Hague on March 1st. The meeting has been convoked by some members of the Board of the International Union, but it is not being held under the auspices of the Union.

British and other foreign members have, therefore, not been invited.

The "Red" Trade Unions have sent a further 16,000 roubles to the strikers in the ore-mining industry in Sweden making a total of 76,000 roubles up to date.

It is a matter of note that wage disputes have been proceeding for some time in the Swedish ore-mining and pulp industries.

AMERICA'S NAVAL REDUCTIONS.

London, Feb. 27.

Mr. W. C. Bridgeman, the First Lord of the Admiralty, in a speech in London to-day, said that the American naval programme was now being reduced almost to what Britain proposed at Geneva.

He had no reason to believe that America wanted ships for anything else than for her own defence.

SIR PAUL CHATER'S CODICIL.

ANOTHER APPEAL IN WILL DISPUTE.

LAND INVESTMENT COMPANY DIRECTORSHIP.

MR. BAGRAM'S CASE.

A further appeal arising out of the will of the late Sir Paul Chater commenced in the Full Court of Appeal this morning, concerning the appointment of Mr. J. T. Bagram as permanent managing director of the Hongkong Land Investment and Agency Company Limited under the terms of the will.

The appellants were the Official Trustee of Bengal and Mr. J. T. Bagram, the respondents being the Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton and the Hongkong Land Investment and Agency Company Limited.

Mr. H. G. Sheldon appeared for the Official Trustee, and Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., on behalf of Mr. Bagram. The Hon. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton was represented by Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C., and Mr. F. C. Jenkin appeared for the company.

The judgment appealed from, and delivered by Mr. Justice Wood in the Court below, states:—

Not Empowered.

"On the formation of the Company on March 2, 1889, the late Sir Paul Chater, in accordance with its Memorandum of Association, became one of the two permanent and managing directors of that company. The other permanent and managing director was the senior representative resident for the time being in the Colony of Hongkong, of Messrs. Jardine Matheson and Company Limited, (so long as the latter carried on business and have an office in the Colony)." The appointment of the deceased was personal and "during his life." On the date of his death, May 27, 1926, the deceased was still holding this position in the company.

"In these proceedings my concern is with the appointment which the deceased purported to make of a successor to himself in that office under the right to nominate and appoint his successor conferred upon him by the Memorandum of Association."

His Lordship found that the late Sir Paul was not empowered to make such appointment.

Three Points.

In reply to Sir Henry Gollan, Mr. Potter said there were three points to be considered. The first was whether alternative appointments were good, secondly whether Mr. Bagram was qualified, and thirdly that in any event Mr. Bagram was not appointed.

Mr. Potter said that for the purposes of the appeal he would accept the decision of the judge that the word "power" was not really the power of appointment in the strict legal sense of the term. The appointment in question was made under the terms of the late Sir Paul's will in a codicil.

There was first of all the appointment of Mr. E. D. Sassoon on certain terms and conditions, and in the case of his non-acceptance, Sir Robert Ho Tung, and thirdly Mr. Bagram.

In order to ascertain whether such appointments were valid they had to go directly to the Memorandum of the company which gave the power of appointment. He would submit that the company itself must have considered that power of appointment one of extreme importance because they had included it in their memorandum.

"It is very doubtful," said Mr. Potter, "if any court could alter that Memorandum and take away that power, even at the request of the company."

Emphasising The Point.

Continuing Mr. Potter said he wished to emphasise the point he was making that the company and Sir Paul thought it of such importance to include it in the Memorandum, thereby preventing any possibility of that power being taken away from Sir Paul.

It was manifest why they gave him that power. They knew he was a person who was vitally interested

SIR PAUL CHATER'S ESTATE.
JUDGMENT RESERVED ON APPEAL.

Matters arising out of the administration of the estate of the late Sir Paul Chater formed the subject of an appeal, before a Full Court at the Supreme Court yesterday, against a judgment delivered by Mr. Justice Wood.

Three judges sat, Sir Henry Gollan (President), Sir Peter Gollan and Mr. Justice Wood. In the afternoon, Mr. Potter argued at length on the construction of the clauses in question and as to how they should be read. He said it would reduce the will to an absurdity if it was denied that stock was not to be used in its limited sense when the trustees were given an extraordinary wide power of exchanging the estate for partly paid-up shares. Once evidence was admitted to ascertain local views, and once they ascertained that the testator had invested in nothing but ordinary shares, and when they found him giving his trustees power to exchange realty, which was the finest security one could have, for partly paid shares, was it to be seriously argued that stock, in clause 20, should be considered in its very narrow sense. On that consideration of the will itself he would say that there were very strong reasons for leading their Lordships to the conclusion that clause 20 should not be considered from the very narrow viewpoint.

His submission was that if they read clause 20 in the wider sense than the stock, if it included shares, such shares must be fully paid up because they fell into the meaning of the word stock, which, in itself were fully paid up.

Sir Henry Gollan remarked that in the ordinary sense it would mean that part of the residuary estate could be sold and payment received by partly paid-up shares.

Mr. Potter replied he would submit that it must mean that.

Sir Henry Gollan said that for himself he would certainly not extend it to cover ordinary investments apart from any disposal. Remarking that they had to consider the whole will in order to ascertain the testator's intentions, Mr. Potter went on to speak of the words "ordinary stock and ordinary fully paid up shares." In law there was only one minute distinction, which was that any fractional part of stock could be sold but one could not sell less than one share. Could it be seriously said that that minute difference could have such a big effect on the court for it to be said that the executor should not buy ordinary shares?

With regard to "stock," it had acquired a secondary nature in Hongkong. That point was conceded in Mr. Justice Wood's judgment, it being stated therein that such was "common knowledge."

Preferential Interest.

Mr. Jenkin, in briefly addressing the court, submitted that the testator had given to Mr. Bagram, under clause eight, a prior charge on the capital, and that, as the delay in the conversion of the estate into cash and a resulting appropriation of seven lakhs to Mr. Bagram was due to a desire to benefit the Church of Nazareth, then the Church should pay for that indulgence by allowing to Mr. Bagram payment of a preferential rate of interest.

Their Lordships reserved judgment.

P. I. GOVERNOR.
MR. STIMSON WELCOMED TO HONGKONG.

Mr. Henry L. Stimson, the newly-appointed Governor-General of the Philippines, arrived in Hongkong yesterday, on his way to Manila to take up the appointment. He is accompanied by Mrs. Stimson and their children, and by members of his staff, including General Dorey, who was the right-hand man of the late Governor-General, General Leonard Wood, and who, it is understood, is filling a similar appointment under the new Governor-General.

The President McKinley, on which Governor-General Stimson and his staff are travelling, arrived here during the early afternoon, and shortly afterwards, at 3 o'clock, the official landing took place at Queen's Pier. The drizzle that had fallen earlier in the day continued, and deprived the ceremony of much of its picturesque aspect. In consequence, there were very few spectators, but in the shelter of the pier, which was draped with bunting, the scene was animated enough. The brilliant uniforms of the military band, contrasting sharply with the sombre attire of members of the Legislative Council and of Government officials.

His Excellency the Governor of Hongkong, Sir Cecil Clementi, K.C.M.G., who was accompanied by his A.D.C., Captain White, arrived at the Pier a few minutes before the official time of landing, and personally greeted the Governor-General and his entourage as they landed on the steps. A salute of 17 guns was at this moment fired from the Tamar, this being replied to by U.S.S. Asheville, while the full military Band of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, under the conductorship of Bandmaster W. G. Fitz-Edwards, crashed out the American national anthem.

Inspection of Guard.

After inspecting the Guard of Honour, which was drawn up immediately in front of the landing steps under the command of Captain Abbott, with Lieutenant The Master of Napier holding the colours, the distinguished visitor was then introduced to members of the Legislative Council and Departmental Heads, amongst whom were: His Excellency Major-General C. C. Luard, C.B., C.M.G., Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, K.C., Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, Hon. Mr. E. R. Hallifax, C.M.G., C.B.E., (Acting Colonial Secretary), Sir Joseph Kemp, K.C., C.B.E., Hon. Mr. C. McI. Mr. R. C. Tredwell, the Consul-General for the United States in Hongkong, Consuls H. Shanks and J. Muccio, and Vice-Consul K. Krentz were also amongst those gathered at the Pier to welcome the Governor-General.

Others present were Captain A. R. Palmer (representing His Excellency Vice-Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt (Commander-in-Chief of the China Squadron), Commodore C. Pearson, Col. Russell-Brown, C.B., Group Commander G.D.A. Robertson and Squadron Leader P. J. Farmer of the R. A. F.

EXCHANGE OF PULPITS.

NOTABLE EVENT IN HONGKONG.

A notable event in Hongkong's Christian history occurred on Sunday when the Ministers of Union Church, Hongkong, and St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, exchanged pulpits. Rev. J. Kirk Macdonald preached at St. Andrew's and Rev. W. W. Rogers at Union Church.

This was the first time an exchange of pulpits had taken place in Hongkong between an Episcopal and non-Episcopal Church. There was no special occasion observed; it was merely a friendly and spontaneous reciprocity.

DANCING DISPLAY.

MISS VIOLET CAPELL AND HER PUPILS.

There was again an excellent audience at the Queen's Theatre last evening when the sixth annual dancing display by Miss Violet Capell and her pupils, first given last Wednesday, was repeated. Miss Capell is so well known locally for her dancing and also for the perfection which her pupils rapidly attain that her annual display has come to be looked upon as the most important event of its kind, audiences being assured of a thoroughly delightful performance.

When first given last week the display was acknowledged to be the most outstanding of all her achievements. The variety of the programme alone was one feature, but more outstanding was the grace and cleverness of the little dancers taking part.

There is little to add to the critiques which have already appeared. The solo items and ensembles are uniformly good and while it is difficult to single out individual dancers for special praise, the work of Miss Rachael Wong and Miss Helen Ho is worthy of special commendation. But all those taking part, even down to the tiny tots, dance with a grace and charm which speaks volumes for the careful training they have received from Miss Capell.

The ensembles are notable for the colour schemes but all the costumes do justice to the talented little performers. The display will be repeated at the Star Theatre on Wednesday at 9.15 p.m. and another excellent audience is assured. Part proceeds of the display are to be devoted to the London Hospital.

Winshop, Military A.D.C., Captain James, U.S.N., Naval A.D.C., and Lt. Grant (a son-in-law of General Dorey). With the exception of Captain James, U.S.N., who arrived from Manila to meet Mr. Stimson, all these officials travelled with the Governor-General from the United States.

General Dorey is accompanied by Mrs. Dorey and Miss Dorey who, with Mrs. Stimson and children, landed later from the President McKinley.

Present at the Pier were also Senator Romualdez, a former Mayor of Manila, who with Mrs. Romualdez, has just returned from a visit to Washington and broke off his journey here to meet the new Governor-General. Three newspapermen sent up specially from Manila to "cover" the visit, were present at the landing, together with Mr. R. Bass, Dr. V. N. Atienza and Mr. L. R. Ilderson, (representing the local Filipino community).

The party, with His Excellency Sir Cecil Clementi, then proceeded to Government House, where an informal reception was held last night, which was attended by practically all the members of the American community.

LOCAL WEDDING.

YESTERDAY'S CATHEDRAL CEREMONY.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's Cathedral yesterday afternoon, when Miss Gladys May Robinson, daughter of the late Mr. Edward Robinson, barrister-at-law of Hongkong and of Mrs. A. E. Black of Shanghai, became the bride of Mr. David Henry Perry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Perry of Bedford.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. V. Koop.

The bride who was attired in pale blue velvet, with hat to match, and carried a sheaf of arum lilies, was given away by Mr. L. A. Cossart, whose wife was the Matron of Honour. The bride was attended by Miss Constance Stonham, who was dressed in April crope de chine with hat of crialotte straw. Her bouquet consisted of sweet peas. Mrs. Cossart wore a dress of rust coloured crope de chine with beige hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. R. M. Jack was best man.

Both before the ceremony and when the happy couple were leaving the Cathedral, Mr. Mason, the organist, played appropriate wedding music.

Following the service, the guests assembled at the Hongkong Hotel, where the reception was held, Mr. and Mrs. Perry leaving later for Panning for their honeymoon.

ASTOR HOUSE HOTEL.

PROPOSED SALE DENIED IN SHANGHAI.

Persistent rumours that the Astor House Hotel, Shanghai, operated by the Hongkong and Shanghai Hotels, Ltd., had been sold or was about to be sold to a group of Japanese capitalists, were last week definitely dispelled by Mr. R. Weeding Skinner, Shanghai Manager for the Company.

A representative of the Shanghai Times learned that:
1.—The Astor House Hotel has not been sold.
2.—There are no negotiations pending for the sale of the hotel.
3.—The Astor House Hotel has not been placed on the market.
"The rumour crops up regularly regarding the sale of the Astor House Hotel," Mr. Skinner stated. "There is not a grain of truth in the report."

In connexion with the Astor House Hotel rumours a very strong one had it that a group of Japanese business men had purchased the place and planned to convert it into an office building.

MISS CHEE FOY.

NOVELTY TURN AT THE QUEEN'S.

Daughter of the famous magician Ching Ling-foo, Miss Chee Foy, who will appear at all performances in the Queen's Theatre to-day and to-morrow to sing popular English and Chinese songs, is a star in her own right, for besides having presented "turns" in some of the biggest variety halls in London and New York, she has more than once "topped the bill" at the Ziegfeld Follies.

The chief item in the movie programme to-day and to-morrow is "The Side Show of Life," an absorbing story adapted from W. J. Locke's remarkable story, "The Mountebank," with Ernest Torrence and Anna Q. Nilsson as leading players. The story deals with the career of an Englishman who has been with a French circus ever since he ran away from home. The fact that his hobby has been war history and war theory stands him in good stead when hostilities break out in 1914. His promotion is rapid and the armistice finds him holding the rank of brigadier-general. During the war he has fallen in love with the daughter of a noble family, thus arousing the jealousy of his circus partner. When the war is over, the brigadier-general is "demobbed." There is nothing for it but to return to the circus. This he does with results that provide a dramatic climax to a powerful story. Not the least charming feature of "The Show of Life" is the fact that the story has a British hero and many of the settings are English.

"FASCINATING YOUTH."

NEW FILM AT THE STAR.

Something new in pictures is offered by the chief picture at the Star Theatre to-day and to-morrow, "Fascinating Youth," a comedy which is the result of the Paramount Picture School's first term of work. The principal roles are all enacted by students of the cinema school which was organised some months ago, in an endeavour to introduce a new group of faces to movie-goers. The sixteen young men and women seen in "Fascinating Youth" were selected and taken from every walk of life. Some were artists' models, others, college students, still another, a teacher, one, a newspaper reporter, and so on. Full of action, "Fascinating Youth" is therefore a pleasant film as well as an interesting experiment.

"THE GREAT LOVE."

AN ELEPHANT'S FUNNY PRANKS.

Showing at the World Theatre to-day and to-morrow is "The Great Love," a comedy written and directed by Marshall Weiland. The story deals with a sentimental elephant who falls in love with the doctor who has cured her of an illness. The elephant causes all sorts of amusing and exciting incidents when she follows the doctor around the town wrecking a village in her desire to be with him. The leading parts are played by Viola Dana and Robert Agnew, with Malcolm Waite as the villain. "The Great Love" is being screened at 5.15 and 9.20 p.m. only, the picture at 2.30 and 7.15 p.m. being the Chinese drama, "The Romance of a Star."

Sir Francis Lacey announced at the Hants County cricket meeting that Hampshire was in need of young players, and if the home supply failed the executive might have to look for them outside the country.

WOMAN'S WORLD FOR OUR LADY READERS.

Boom in Stockings.

WHAT WOMEN PREFER.

The modern woman wears three times as many stockings as her sister of pre-war days. This was the opinion expressed to a Press Association representative recently by people in the wholesale and retail stocking trade.

They attributed the increase to short skirts, the introduction of light-coloured stockings, and the fact that silk and artificial silk stockings are more fragile than the woolen stockings of pre-war days.

Mr. Comyns Carr, giving evidence before the Board of Trade Committee considering the application for the imposition of a duty on imported hosiery and knitted wear of cotton and wool, said in 1912 the people of England used 15 million pairs of stockings and socks. In 1924 they used 22½ million pairs. Making allowance for the increase in population, that means four pairs per head in 1912 and six pairs per head in 1924.

Referring to these figures, the hosiery buyer of the large London firm said:—In pre-war days women wore long skirts which covered their legs down to their ankles. The result was that very little attention was paid to what their stockings looked like. Stockings were made of black wool, and it did not matter in the least if holes were in the legs. They could be darned over and over again without anyone being any wiser.

Not only that; being made of wool and wool cashmere, they were considerably longer than the flimsy silk of which stockings are made to-day.

What Working Girls Wear.
"There is a third reason. They did not get dirty and splashed with mud as they do to-day, and, therefore, were not washed nearly so often. This may not sound very hygienic, but there is no doubt that women did not wash their stockings nearly as often as they do to-day."

As to the actual number of pairs of stockings bought by women in a year, one buyer put it at from 12 to 18, and another at 12 to 24. Of course, said one, among the well-to-do classes the woman thinks nothing of buying from six to 12 pairs of stockings a month. Even working girls often prefer to buy two pairs of cheap stockings rather than more expensive ones, to save the trouble of darning them. They just wear them till they go into holes; then throw them away.

Men, it appears, are much more economical than women. Many men manage on from eight to 12 pairs of socks a year, said the buyer of a large firm of men's outfitters. In addition, the average man has two pairs of evening socks, if he's lucky.

Making these inquiries about men's socks, the Press Association representative found that few men seemed to have any idea as to how many pairs of socks they bought in a year, or how much they paid for them.

Electric Waver.

The electric hair waver is so great an improvement upon the old style waver which one heated up over the gas ring that no woman who is shingled can afford to be without one to turn up those obstinate ends. The newest electric waver, however, has an additional advantage in the shape of an aluminium comb attachment. This heats and so forms a convenient dryer for use after shampooing.

Film Production.

WELL-KNOWN HOSTESS
ENTERS FILM WORLD.

Considerable interest has been aroused by the news that Mrs. Wilfrid Ashley, wife of Colonel Wilfrid Ashley, Minister of Transport, has joined a British film-producing concern as adviser on etiquette, dress, interior decoration, and general "etiquette."

Even as foreign films have been criticised in the past for inaccuracies and inelegancies, English films, too, have erred from time to time in the same way.

Teapot Hints.

Teapots, whether plain or ornamental, need more care than they generally get.

In every case, they should be rinsed out with boiling water, at once after use, and if they have to be put away for any time, one or two lumps of sugar should be dropped inside, and the lid left ajar to let in a current of air. This prevents their acquiring a musty flavour, which is sure to taste the next brew of tea.

If this precaution has been neglected, fill the pot overnight with boiling water, to which has been added a piece of soda. Next day, scrub the inside with a small brush, rinse it well, dry thoroughly.

A Smart three-piece Suit.

A French embodiment of Riviera chic—a three-piece suit of combined white and green, the cape collared and cuffed in dyed badger.

The fact that a well-known hostess, such as Mrs. Wilfrid Ashley is to enter the British film world is regarded as an indication on the part of the British film-maker to leave nothing to chance in securing perfection in every detail and in the spirit of intelligent production.

If silver teapots are washed with boiling water, and rubbed well with a leather every day, they should only need thorough cleaning once a fortnight.

When washing china teapots with coloured pattern, add a little Fuller's earth to the water. This cleanses, and does no harm to delicate tints.

Pay special attention to the rims of the lids, which are often neglected.

GETTING TOGETHER.

It will be hailed as a happy circumstance that, so soon after the visit of Sir Miles Lampson to Canton, distinguished officials from the Southern capital are coming down to Hongkong this week, to pay their respects to His Excellency the Governor and to meet the foreign and Chinese communities of the Colony. As we remarked yesterday, it is very many years since there was an exchange of formal official visits between Hongkong and Canton. If our memory is not at fault, Friday's visit by General Li Chai-sum and party will be the first of its kind since the Chinese Republic was established. During the Governorship of Sir Frederick Lugard, Viceroy Shum paid a courtesy call on His Excellency, who returned it later, and it is an interesting coincidence that on that occasion Sir (then Mr.) Cecil Clementi was amongst the official party which went up to Canton from Hongkong. That Sir Cecil should be the first chief representative of this Colony to renew this contact after so many years will invest his pending return visit to Canton with special interest. The call which General Li Chai-sum and party are making on Friday is also historic from the fact that for the first time in the history of the Colony the wives of Chinese officials are to be amongst the guests of H. E. the Governor and his wife. Apart from the new status of Chinese ladies, which this betokens, the value of the new personal contact thus engendered will surely find general appreciation.

Those who have met General Li Chai-sum in his official capacity all unite in paying tribute to his sincerity and to his keen desire not only to bring better rule to Kwangtung but also to work in complete harmony with foreign interests. His recent utterances, during the visit of Sir Miles Lampson, have been permeated by a feeling of real friendship for Britain and the British and have shown that he has the right conception of the relationships which should exist between Canton and Hongkong. If he continues in that policy, as we have every reason to believe he will, the results will be to the mutual benefit of the two centres. In view of Britain's close association with Canton, from the very earliest days of commercial intercourse, it is most fitting that the new era in the South should be marked by a revival of the old spirit of friendship and co-operation, which the coming visit of General Li Chai-sum and party should do much to strengthen. Hongkong will also extend a very cordial welcome to Mr. Chu Chao-hsin, Canton's Minister for Foreign Affairs, who is one of the officials accompanying the Chairman of the Southern Government. Mr. Chu, who is a native of Kwangtung, has had wide diplomatic experience, having been Consul General in San Francisco, Charge d'Affaires in London and Minister to Italy, whilst his work as delegate to the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva is too well known to need emphasising. In his official capacity in Canton, he is working in the fullest harmony with Mr. Brennan, the British Consul-General, who has during the past week-end paid him a deserved tribute and asserted that British relations with Canton are now on a firm and friendly footing. The year 1928 has certainly opened most promisingly so far as the official relationships between Hongkong and Canton are concerned, and we are only echoing the sentiments of the whole community here when we express the hope that the new and better contacts will be long maintained.

Transport Facilities.

There is much scope for the individual with a statistical turn of mind in the Hon. Mr. D. G. M. Bernard's speech at the annual meeting of the Hongkong Tramway Company. A notable new record of nearly 28,000,000 passengers carried, excluding season ticket holders, was set, while it is a matter for congratulation that on one day during the Chinese New Year, the Company transported over 150,000 persons without a single mishap. These are figures which speak for themselves, and may be accepted as yet a further sign of the growth and development of the Colony, and its recovery from the depression following the boycott. Such encouraging indications must not delude the observer into the idea that a great deal has not still to be made up, but the mere fact that forward progress is definitely established should stimulate enterprise. The Tramway Company is seriously considering the organisation of bus services in the Colony, although the proposed routes have not been indicated. The Hon. Mr. Bernard, however, said enough to indicate that the Company will commence operations if permission can be obtained. At the moment we cannot see great scope on the island for a new bus service. In the districts served by the Hongkong Hotel Garage, on the roads to the University and Felix Villas, the present service is adequate; indeed, the Hotel Company deserve the thanks of the community for initiating it. When all things are considered the island of Hongkong is remarkably well favoured in its transport facilities, thanks to the far-sighted policy of such companies as have been mentioned.

INJURED ON WAY TO HOSPITAL.

CHINESE DIES AFTER ADMISSION.

A traffic mishap, as a result of which a Chinese on the way to hospital in a ricksha was so badly injured that he died just after admission, is reported to-day.

It appears that a motor bus was proceeding along Nathan Road, Kowloon, yesterday, and, when near the China Light and Power Company's shop, it ran into a ricksha in which a man named Leong Shi, 45 years of age, was being conveyed to hospital.

The ricksha was upset and the man thrown out. He was rushed to hospital, but died just after admission.

PRETTY CHINESE WEDDING.

MR. R. C. LEE AND MISS ESTHER WONG.

A wedding of particular local interest was solemnized at St. John's Cathedral this afternoon, when Miss Esther Wong, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wong, became the bride of Mr. Richard Charles Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hysan, the Very Rev. Dean Swann officiating.

The parents of both parties are well-known both in Chinese and European circles. Mr. J. M. Wong is the comprador of Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co., and has taken considerable interest in public affairs, while Mr. Lee Hysan is the proprietor of the Lee Gardens and Theatre.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was charmingly attired in a gown of silver lace, trimmed with pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Sarah Wong, as maid of honour, with the Misses Mary Chan, Ethel Lam, Eisle Wong, Dora Wong, Jeanette Wong and Fung Syn Wong as bridesmaids, all of whom wore dresses of crepe satin of multiple colours, trimmed with rosettes. Their bouquets were of pink roses.

The bride's mother was attired in full Chinese ceremonial dress. Mr. Frank Grose discharged the duties of best man, and Mr. F. Mason officiated at the organ.

Subsequent to the ceremony, a reception was held at Lee Gardens. The happy couple are to make a honeymoon trip to Europe.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO BERLIN.

WELL-KNOWN DIPLOMAT GIVEN APPOINTMENT.

Berlin, Feb. 27.

The British Government has asked the German Government to approve the appointment of Sir Horace Rumbold as Ambassador at Berlin.—Reuter.

The ninth baronet, Sir Horace Rumbold, P.C., G.C.M.G., M.V.O., has been Ambassador at Madrid since 1924, having spent practically the whole of his life in the Diplomatic Service. His appointments have taken him to Vienna, Cairo, Munich, The Hague, Switzerland, and Japan. He was Charge d'Affaires at Tokyo in 1909, and a wonderful linguist he received special allowances for knowledge of Japanese, Arabic, and Persian.

The appointment now made is particularly interesting as Sir Horace Rumbold was Charge d'Affaires at Berlin at the outbreak of the War, leaving on the declaration and joining the Foreign Office. He signed the Lausanne Treaty for Great Britain in 1923.

EXCESS PASSENGERS.

JAPANESE MASTER FINED.

The adjourned case against Captain Nakamura, of s.s. Nishin Maru, charged with carrying 31 passengers, when only 12 were allowed by law, was resumed before Commr. G. F. Hole this morning. A representative of the agents, Messrs. Saito and Company, appeared on behalf of the accused.

A plea of guilty was entered, the agent's representative stating that this was the first visit to Hongkong of Captain Nakamura and he was not conversant with the regulations. Care would be taken that no offence would be committed in future, and that the commodore's staff and cargo coolies would be entered on the articles.

His Worship pointed out that the law relating to passengers was international, and that Japanese regulations did not differ at all from those of Hongkong and therefore there was no excuse for the evasion.

A fine of $100, with the alternative of two months' imprisonment, was inflicted.

To-day's observatory report states:—An anticyclone is still central over South Manchuria. Conditions over South China are uncertain. Moderate monsoon may be expected over the China Sea. The forecast up to noon to-morrow, is:—North-east winds, moderate; generally overcast; some rain.

Two awards totalling £2,300 were returned in the Camden, New Jersey, Courts against a local dentist whom a woman patient accused of responsibility for injuries to her tongue, inflicting on her a permanent limp.

The woman, Mrs. Martha Lefebvre, stated that Dr. Samuel Tomkins punctured her tongue with an instrument while filling a tooth. She won £2,000 damages. Her husband obtained a £300 award to defray medical expenses.

Dr. Tomkins testified that the injury was due to the fact that the patient squirmed, causing the instrument to slip.

ANOTHER VESSEL
GOES ASHORE.THE KINKO MARU STRIKES ROCKS.

RIVER STRANDINGS.

Following the reports of the strandings of the river steamers Kwong Fook Cheong, San Nam Hoi and Ichang, yet another marine casualty was recorded this morning, the vessel involved being the s.s. Kinko Maru, of the Shiozaki Yokichi, she having struck the rocks in the vicinity of Turnabout Island.

The earliest news was received last night by wireless, the master stating that the vessel had gone ashore during fog in Latitude 25, 26 North, Longitude 119.56 East, the position being approximately that of the Turnabout Island Rocks south of Foochow.

On enquiry at the local agents (the M.B.K.) this morning, no further news has been received and it is presumed that the vessel is in no danger, assistance not having yet been despatched.

The s.s. Kinko Maru (ex-Holmborg, ex-Harold) is a steel screw steamer of 2,987 gross and 1921 net, built in 1903 by J. Thompson and Son of Sunderland, and formerly owned by the Dampskibsselskabet Ringberg of Haugesund, but now in the ownership of the Shiozaki Yokichi and registered at Amagasaki, for whom the M.B.K. are acting as local agents. Her dimensions are:—Length 325 feet, beam 48 feet and moulded depth 21.6 feet, engine to 285 N.H.P. by G. Clark and Co. of Sunderland. It is understood that the vessel was en route to Hongkong from northern ports.

River Strandings.

On arrival last night, the s.s. Tai Lee stated that the s.s. Kwong Fook Chong had been refloated and had discharged her cargo at Kongmoon, subsequently leaving for Hongkong. The Kwong Fook Cheong followed the Tai Lee down and after berthing early this morning, was later docked at Shumshulpo for survey, but it is understood that the vessel is not seriously damaged.

The s.s. San Nam Hoi was sighted by s.s. Tai Lee on Sunday evening, stranded off the Swagway. After communication between the vessels, the Tai Lee anchored beyond the bar and the San Nam Hoi's passengers, numbering 360 were transferred via three junks. A British gunboat was seen to be standing by.

On the passage down last night, the s.s. Tai Lee again sighted the San Nam Hoi proceeding upwards to Kongmoon, she having been refloated and making her way to her port of destination. It is understood that the San Nam Hoi will berth here at about midnight to-night.

The s.s. Ichang, of the China Navigation Company, returned to harbour this morning, after grounding in the vicinity of Junk Rock. She entered in ballast from Canton and will probably be surveyed for damage at Taikoo during the next 24 hours.

STEAMBOAT CO.
MEETING.BRIGHTER OUTLOOK REPORTED.HOPES OF DIVIDEND FOR CURRENT YEAR.

NO CANTON TROUBLE.

The ordinary annual meeting of shareholders of the Hongkong, Canton and Macao Steamboat Company, Limited, was held at the Company's offices this morning. Mr. T. G. Wooll presiding. Other Directors present were Sir Robert Ho Tung, Mr. J. M. Alves, Mr. R. K. Batchelor, Mr. C. Gordon Mackie and Mr. A. B. Stewart, with the Secretary, Mr. John Arnold. Shareholders present were the Hon. Mr. J. Owen Hughes, Mr. D. M. Goodall, Mr. L. S. Greenhill, Mr. W. E. van Epps, Mr. Cheng Ching-po, and Mr. Lo Kai-hong.

The Secretary read the notice convening the meeting.

Chairman's Speech.

The Chairman said:—Gentlemen.—The report and accounts for the year ending 31st December 1927 have been in your hands for the prescribed period and I therefore propose, with your consent, to take them as well as the auditors' certificate as read.

The profit on working for the period under review, including income from investments, rents, government grant, profit on the sale of a lighter and moorings, amounts to $347,832.89, from which has to be deducted cost of repairs, directors' and auditors' fees, interest and depreciation on the usual scale, leaving a net profit of $78,182.48. We carried forward from previous account a deficit of $246,986.33 and your Directors recommend that transfers from reserves should be made to wipe off this deficit and leave a small credit balance of $11,197.15 to carry forward to new account. According to $100,000 has been taken from Equalization of Dividend Fund and $30,000 from Investment Fluctuation Account, reducing these accounts to $50,000 and $250,332.88 respectively.

Mortgage Repaid.

The value of investments shows a reduction of $137,189 on account of the sale of certain securities to enable us to repay the mortgage on s.s. Taisan, and the sum transferred from Investment Fluctuation Account, namely $80,000, approximately represents profit on realisation. The amount standing at credit of Investment Fluctuation Account still shows a reserve of fully 30 per cent. of your investments, which is ample considering the class of investments held.

With regard to the transfer of $100,000 from Equalization of Dividend Fund, you will, I feel sure, agree that it is better to appropriate a part of this reserve, thus enabling us to start a new year with a credit balance rather than carry forward a deficit.

Your Directors regret that once again they are unable to recommend payment of a dividend, but provided conditions continue as at present, we can look forward to some return for account of the present year.

Office Economies.

Before passing from the accounts, I would mention that, following the suggestions offered by a shareholder at the last annual meeting, the possibility of effecting economies in our office organisation was fully considered and it was found that only a few minor economies were possible, without impairing efficiency.

It was also suggested that a saving of some $30,000 might be effected by the appointment of a local shipping firm as general agents. It has been felt that while the present unsettled conditions of trade exist, the time was hardly opportune to explore this suggestion.

Your fleet and property have been maintained in first-class order and, while on this subject, I would like to mention Captain R. Innes, the China Navigation Company's Marine Superintendent, who has acted as Marine Superintendent for our Company, and is shortly retiring after 30 years' service during which his work and advice in this Company's interest have been of great value.

With regard to the Macao trade, the question of placing faster and more up-to-date vessels on this run is constantly occupying your Directors' attention, but they feel that the time is hardly opportune to embark upon a building programme.

Moderate Trade.

Trade generally in the Canton Delta during the year under review can only be classed as moderate. Due to conditions existing in the country, movement of cargo has been generally restricted, while the Reinforcements are being rushed up from Taiyuanfu in order to strengthen the Shansi defences against which Chang Tso-lin's troops have been making preparations to launch an attack.

It is expected that heavy fighting will take place soon, as the Shansi leader states he is determined not to give way.—Reuter.

ARMS POSSESSION.

CHINESE PASSENGER'S
EXPLANATION.

A Chinese passenger of the s.s. President McKinley, which arrived from America yesterday afternoon, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court, this morning, with being in possession of one revolver and five rounds of ammunition.

The defendant pleaded guilty to possession and said he was not aware that it was necessary to get a licence.

When asked what he required the revolver for, he replied that it did not belong to him, but that he had found it in the pocket of an overcoat which somebody had dropped on the deck of the ship shortly after arrival. The defendant stated that he had just picked up the coat when he was accosted by a detective and searched, the revolver and ammunition being found in the pocket.

After seeing the overcoat, his Worship said that it certainly seemed possible that such had been the case. Sergeant Fowler, who prosecuted, said the defendant had made the same statement to the police immediately on arrest.

His Worship imposed a fine of $200, or three months' hard labour, intimating that he thought that would meet the case.

SHANGHAI CINEMA
UPROAR.FRENCH OBJECTIONS TO "BEAU GESTE."POLICE CALLED TO QUEL DISTURBANCE.

SOME LIVELY SCENES.

Police from Sinza Station had to be called out at a Shanghai Theatre last week to deal with an attempt of a number of Frenchmen, including one or two well-known French residents, to stop the showing of "Beau Geste," the film based on the novel by Major P. C. Wren dealing with the French Foreign Legion.

At one time, half-way through the picture, when incidents related by the French portion of the audience were being portrayed, the police moved against the man who appeared to be one of the leaders of the opposition and immediately there was an uproar. Serious trouble was averted, but the opposition continued.

Shouting and Yelling.

When the film opened the opposition soon made itself heard. About a score of Frenchmen occupied the back seat of the circle and began shouting, yelling, stamping their feet and blowing police whistles when any incident was shown in the film, which met their displeasure. The acts of the hard-boiled Sergeant Lajune met with roars of disapproval.

For a solid hour the uproar continued, two of the men using motor horns to add to the din. Many patrons of the theatre, prevented from enjoying the performance, left the place in disgust as cries of "Liar," "It isn't true," "It's nothing but German propaganda" came floating down from the back of the circle.

Police Arrive.

As the uproar continued and demands were made that the film be stopped a call was put in for the police, and a party was sent from the nearest police station.

This action of the management was resented and there was disorder for some time with the police mixed up with disturbers, who stood on their feet and protested.

Attempts were made to stop the showing of the film, one man holding his hat over the aperture in the projection box until his hand was snatched away by the police. Loud voices were raised in which the main appeal by the Frenchmen was that the picture be stopped; that it was a false representation of the true facts; that it was incorrect; that it was German propaganda and other things.

Non-French members of the audience, their tempers sorely tried by this disturbance, took a hand by asking the French people "if they didn't like it to get out." The reply came back that they were there to stop it.

Manager Intervenes.

As the police and disturbers milled around in the back seats of the circle, the manager made his voice heard and assured the opposition party that when the film was shown before, he received a letter from Captain E. Fiori, Chief of the French Police, raising no objection against it. "He ought to know," he was in it," somebody of non-French nationality remarked.

Eventually, the most violent stages of the opposition vanished and the film continued to the end.

Various incidents, however, were met with loud roars and hoots, while the finale disappeared in a round of titters and cheap sneers. Towards the end of the film, as things grew quieter, a good many people who had retired to the lobby, returned to their seats. The police remained in the building until the end.

SOLDIERS FINED.

SEQUEL TO CAFE
DISTURBANCES.

Privates J. Grant, W. Peoney and J. Heggarty, of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, who were charged with being drunk and disorderly and doing damage at the Boston and Prince Cafes in Beaconsfield Arcade, appeared before Major C. Willson, on remand, this morning, when the police stated that the damage caused to the windows was estimated by Mr. Corney, a local glass merchant, at $145.

Defendants were, on the first charge, each fined $5, or seven days. On the further charge of smashing the glass, they were each fined an additional $50, or six weeks' hard labour. His Worship ordered that compensation to the shops be made from these fines.

P. I. DEMOCRATIC
CHOICE.FAVOURS GOVERNOR SMITH
FOR U. S. PRESIDENCY.

ENTHUSIASTIC SCENES.

To the swinging strains of "The Sidewalks of New York," Governor Al Smith carried the Philippine Islands last week, when the Democratic territorial convention at the Manila Hotel, instructed its six delegates to vote for his nomination for President at the Democratic national convention at Houston, Texas, June 28.

The insular convention was overwhelmingly for New York's favourite son and repeatedly interrupted its deliberations to burst into the song that his candidacy made famous at the last national Democratic convention in New York City four years ago.

Philippine Democratic leaders said the islands were the first to elect delegates to the national nominating convention and seemed to think their action would have far-reaching results.

The Platform.

In adopting their platform the Democrats condemned with utmost vigor the Republican administration of national affairs. As a timely feature they denounced the tariff policy which, they claim, is strangling the sugar industry of these islands. They advocated the fostering of the closest economic co-operation between the people of the Philippine Islands, favouring the influx of American capital to further the economic and political advancement of the islands. They opposed the alleged plan of certain Republicans in Congress to bring about the political dismemberment of the Philippines.

The convention, attended by 111 delegates, 55 from Manila and 56 from the various provincial districts, disposed of its work in record time. The orchestra struck into "The Sidewalks of New York" for each delegate and each alternate elected, reverting from that selection only while the Star Spangled Banner was played as the convention adjourned.

That the meeting was all for Smith was evidenced by the prolonged cheering when the delegates were instructed to "vote for and use all honourable efforts to secure the nomination of the Honourable Alfred E. Smith, of New York, for the Presidency of the United States so long as his name is before the convention."

Neither the question of Philippine independence nor that of prohibition was referred to.

John Harvey, the Welshman, who was sentenced to eight years imprisonment for desertion from the French Foreign Legion, and was recently pardoned and released from further service, was arrested by the London police in connexion with a charge of leaving his wife and family chargeable to the Poor Law Union. The warrant was issued at the instance of the Bedwellty (Mon.) Guardians. Harvey, whose real name, it is stated, is David Harvey John Young, is to be charged at New Tredegar. He is a native of that town and married an Aberystwyth girl.

SHANGHAI BOXING.

STOKER MORRELL'S

NARROW WIN.

Fighting a wonderful fight, in which most of the blows intended to put him under landed in comparatively innocuous places, Stoker Tom Morrell established himself as the best battler of his class Shanghai has seen for many a long day by defeating K. O. Williams, formidable light-heavyweight from the French Defence Forces, in a thrilling and close main event at the Carlton auditorium last week. Morrell earned a narrow decision to the cheers of the crowd.

The Shanghai Times says, Morrell was lucky to obtain the judges' decision. On a general survey of the bout there was very little in it. Morrell landed the greater number of blows; Williams the more damaging blows. As a result there was some dissatisfaction expressed when the decision was announced. The general opinion, however, confirmed the judges' and nothing more was said about it.

passenger trade has likewise suffered to some extent. Unfortunately, owing to misunderstandings with the Seamen's Union in Canton, our steamers were picketed and passengers were prevented from embarking or disembarking at our wharves in Canton for a period of seven weeks during the summer which is reflected in the net earnings of the steamers. I am pleased to say that all misunderstandings were overcome on 6th August.

It is impossible and even dangerous to forecast what the future has in store, but the return to more peaceful conditions in Canton under the present Government is reassuring. An active campaign to suppress brigandage and piracy and measures to overcome the bank note problem in Canton should further restore general confidence and lead to improved trading conditions in the Delta. Given these conditions, we can rely upon our up-to-date and popular steamers getting their full share of cargo and passengers from shippers and supporters.

Tributes.

I cannot close without mentioning the hard work and loyalty on the part of our staff, both foreign and Chinese, afloat and ashore under conditions that have often been trying if not entailing an element of personal risk.

It is with regret that I have to report the death of Captain A. McKinnon, who was well known to most of you, as one of the most popular captains on the Canton run, and who only survived to enjoy a very short while in retirement after completing 22 years' service in the Company.

It is fitting here that I should also record our appreciation of the services of our Canton Agents, Messrs. Deacon & Co., Ltd., under the especially trying conditions of the past year.

No further comments appear to be necessary and I therefore propose that the accounts and report as presented be adopted. When this has been seconded I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability any questions shareholders may wish to ask.

Seconders Speech.

In seconding the Hon. Mr. J. Owen Hughes said: I have much pleasure in seconding that the report and accounts as presented be adopted. Shareholders generally will be sure to appreciate the action of the directors in transferring a lakh from Equalization of Dividend Fund and realising a portion of our assets in order to pay off mortgage. While we all regret that no dividend is available for distribution, we cannot, in view of the difficult times we have gone through, expect a dividend or be surprised. I, at any rate, feel that your wise policy is justified.

With the Government at present in power in Canton, I feel that we shall enjoy a year of continued progress towards that prosperity which the steamers of this Company formerly enjoyed in Canton and in the delta. We have, however, met with so many surprises and disappointments that we should nevertheless continue a policy of rigid economy both in the working of the steamers and in the office. We must be very sure that we are out of the wood before embarking on any programme of building new ships.

It is very gratifying to learn from the Directors' report of the loyal support of the staff both afloat and ashore and it is to be regretted that no appropriations have been possible for the respective funds.

Our Chairman has modestly refrained from making mention of the arduous work that has fallen on himself and his co-Directors during the past few years. They have, I know, had a great deal to do and have had many difficult and delicate problems to solve; and I think that shareholders owe a gratitude to you, Sir, and the Directors for the manner in which these negotiations have been settled on behalf of shareholders.

The Chairman returned thanks for the appreciation expressed by the Hon. Mr. J. Owen Hughes. The report and accounts were unanimously adopted.

Business Matters.

On the proposition of Mr. Goodall, seconded by Mr. Cheng Ching-po, Messrs. T. G. Weall and J. M. Alves were re-elected to the Board of Directors.

The Chairman announced that the Hon. Mr. A. O. Lang, Mr. R. M. Austin, Mr. H. Staples Smith, and Mr. J. J. Paterson had resigned their seats on the board on leaving the Colony. Mr. J. J. Paterson, Mr. M. T. Johnson, and Mr. R. K. Batchelor had been invited to join the board and those appointments required confirmation.

The appointments were confirmed, on the proposition of Mr.

OUR DAILY TALK ON HEALTH.LIFE SPAN IS MEASURED BY WORK WE DO.

DOCTORS SOON DIE.

The average man works eight hours, sleeps eight hours and spends the other eight hours in recreation.

The eight hours of work have much to do with all of the rest of his life. If he occupies a mental position, he is likely to be exposed to cold and wet and unfavourable physical conditions.

If his pay is limited, he is likely to eat an insufficient diet and to have insufficient recreation.

More and more, therefore, scientific medicine is beginning to investigate conditions associated with work as to their effects on health and disease.

The average mortality rate for men of the age of 25 to 65 is fifteen per thousand, but liquor handlers and copper and lead miners have a rate of twenty per thousand, and doctors have a higher rate than either lawyers or ministers.

The high rate for physicians is accredited to the fact that their lives lead them into much overwork and exposure. The disabilities of men also vary according to their occupations.

Actors, architects, bankers, musicians and teachers have rates lower than the average. On the other hand, brokers, travelling salesmen, dentists and restaurant proprietors and tailors have more than the average amount of illness.

The expectation of life at the age of 20 is eight years less for industrial workers than for agricultural, commercial and professional workers.

The death rate from tuberculosis is two to three times higher among industrial workers than in farming, commercial and professional classes. Pneumonia has twice the death rate among industrial workers.

Bootleggers are subject to all sorts of unusual hazards and actors keep extremely irregular hours. To the insurance companies, these factors are of great importance because it is necessary they be taken into account in estimating premiums against loss of time from illness or against death.

CHINESE SINGER.

Miss Chee Toy, the noted Chinese singer, who is appearing at all performances in the Queen's Theatre to-day and to-morrow, to sing popular English and Chinese songs. A daughter of the famous magician, Ching Ling-foo, Miss Chee Toy is a star in her own right, having topped the bill at the Ziegfeld Follies.

Among the passengers sailing from Hongkong aboard the M. M. s.s. General Metzinger to-day is Mr. J. Limage, the local agent of the Messageries Maritimes, who is going home on leave.

At a Lambeth inquest on Rachel Silver, 48, wife of a fishmonger, of Old South Lambeth-road, who committed suicide by coal gas poisoning, it was stated that she had had 20 children. The husband said that she used to have drinking bouts, but when she was sober she was a most devoted wife and mother. The Coroner (Mr. Ingleby Oddie) recorded a verdict of "Suicide While of Unsound Mind."

Greenhill, seconded by Mr. Van Eps.

Mr. Batchelor proposed, and Mr. Lo Kai-hong seconded, that Messrs. Linstead and Davis and Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected auditors at a remuneration of $1,000 each. The proposition was carried unanimously.

KEEPING OUT THE
CRITIC.ADVICE TO AFFRONTED
MANAGERS.

[By Edgar Wallace.]

I am very sorry to see that two very good friends of mine are at loggerheads. The one a brilliant young dramatic critic, the other a brilliant actor—I am not sure that he is not the greatest on the English stage. He is a charming, masterful man, as good a soldier as he is an artist, and that is paying him the highest compliment; the type that would possibly order his best friend to be shot at dawn if the exigencies of the military situation demanded such a sacrifice.

He did not order the dramatic critic to be shot at dawn, but he placed the angel at the gate, and sternly refused the damned critic admission to his paradise.

It has happened before and will happen again that managers, and especially actor-managers, who feel rather sore at some criticism of their previous work, will deny admission to the critic on the first night of the subsequent production. I am not going to say this is silly; it is terribly natural, almost as natural as the loathing one has for the ruffian who trumps you at the first time round.

The Wise Way with Fin-Pricks.

Authors suffer much more than actors from the comments of the critics. Indeed, I have found an extraordinary charity of treatment, where actors and actresses are concerned, general amongst all writers who deal with theatrical performance. It is not nice to read uncomplimentary references to your work, and one's first inclination is to throw down the paper and ring the bell for the family executioner.

"Go out and find Mr. Z., of the 'Daily Turmoil'—you can't mistake him; he's tall, thin, and interestingly ugly. Cut his throat and bury him, ten paces north of the old pigsty."

I am a fervent believer in the assassination of dramatic critics. Quite a number of them would prefer death to the kind of plays they have to see. But I don't think it is sufficient punishment to exclude them from a first night performance. And I don't think, if I may be allowed to say so, Robert, that it is terribly dignified. We shouldn't think an awful lot of Mr. Baldwin if he rose in the House of Commons trembling with anger, and, pointing to a vacuous-looking individual in the reporter's gallery, said: "I will not have that man in the House of Commons—he referred to me yesterday as an enemy of labour; he also said that my speech was halting, weak, and unconvincing!"

If such a thing happened in the Commons, the Speaker would adjourn the House, kind friends would lead Mr. Baldwin forth to a comfortable private room and lave his brow with eau-de-Cologne; and the Press Gallery would conspire to hush up a very unpleasant incident.

Big men should be superior to fin-pricks; they should certainly be superior to anything that has the appearance of hurt vanity. I am not a big man, so my vanity is much more easily hurt than, say, Mr. Winston Churchill's. When I had a failure last year I was ready to quarrel with one who has been a lifelong friend of mine—my life really began when I came into Fleet-street—but happily my long association with professional criminals has brought to me something of their philosophy; and I have learned that one only thing to do in the circumstances is to "go quietly" and to bear no malice towards the policeman who pinches me.

A Losing Fight.

The actor in question should set a better example to his brethren. Year after year we poor scribbling Trotskys are being punished by these inflexible and managerial Stalins. The quarrel usually lasts about six months, everything is patched up, and the dramatic critic is left with a new embarrassment. For if he is admitted to another show in which the management or the actor is concerned he is confronted with the knowledge that if he says anything unpleasant he will be again excluded, and if he writes something rather kindly he will be regarded by his fellows as being insincere.

We know that the Press of Britain is incorruptible, and, speaking as a journalist, its integrity is a matter for the greatest pride. Nevertheless, newspapers are human, and when you quarrel with a newspaper you are quarrelling with something more final than a woman. They have the last word, and it isn't what they say, but rather what they refrain from saying, that is so punishing. And men who write for their living and are attached to the staffs of important journals are so conscious of the advantage they have that they are more than ever careful to avoid anything that bears the appearance of under comment.

The men who criticise plays for the London Press have not all the same high level of intelligence; but they have in common a wide charity which is never expressed so benevolently as when dealing with faults of acting.

The boycotting of the critic is a very foolish game, almost as foolish as if critics boycotted managements. But since my friend the actor is a man of quick understanding, and is, moreover, a man of generous impulses, I have no doubt that the present situation will be relieved very shortly.

There are many ways of helping the theatre—quarrelling with dramatic critics is not one of them.

HE WHO RUNS CANNOT READ.

That the newspaper is a better medium for advertising than the poster or hoarding was one of the points made in an address to the Leeds Publicity Club by Mr. W. Buchanan Taylor, publicity manager to J. Lyons and Co., Ltd. the great London catering firm.

Speaking on the mystery of publicity, he said that the newspaper had the advantage over the poster because of its mobility. "Few People," he said, "can run and read, and few people have time to stop to read in these hectic times."

"The newspaper gets among people, whereas you have to make them stop to look at boardings. Unquestionably the news sheet has won the day."

CHAPTER XXIV.

Otto Rigg sat bowed in his chair, his great hands stretched out on his desk, his fists clenching and unclenching. His eyes stared at Martin Stannard, hate and fear in them. Stannard was perched nervously on the edge of his chair, glancing at Otto as if for some order. Joyce drew up a small table and placed upon it a pad, upon which she intended to take a shorthand note of all that transpired—as Martin had asked her to. Martin took from his pocket a sheaf of papers.

As he smoothed them in his hand, Mainwaring suddenly stood up, approaching Otto. "Pistol, please. It is the law speaking." An Otto hesitated, he ran a swift hand over Otto's big person and the hand came away with a service revolver. He performed the same office over the reluctant Stannard, taking from him a big automatic. He examined both these pistols with interest, and after unlodging them, held the cartridges in the palm of his hand, scrutinising them. Then he pocketed everything, sat back with a smile, and said, "Go on, Mr. Stannard."

Stannard looked at his papers, glanced up: "You know why I am here, Otto Rigg. You know I've got you pinned at last."

"Blackmail," snarled Otto Rigg, with a flash of his old arrogance. "I knew it was blackmail. You tried to blackmail the others. . . . And you," turning to Mainwaring, "are an officer of the law, countenancing, nay, supporting such blackguardism."

"Be of good heart, Otto," smiled Mainwaring. "At the first hint of blackmail I can arrest Stannard here without warrant."

Otto Rigg decided on a bold stroke. He reached for his telephone. "I'll not stand this," he snapped. "I'll telephone Scotland Yard. They'll stop this blackmail."

"While you are telling Scotland Yard, Otto Rigg," said Martin, evenly, "inform them that the basis of the blackmail is a certain deal in Algoma Stock."

The effect of that name on Otto Rigg was startling. He half rose out of his chair, his hands flew to his throat, and he seemed to be choking. In a minute he slumped back in his chair again, and sat there absolutely collapsed, his mouth loose, his eyes wild, staring, and hopeless.

"You see, Otto Rigg, I know. This is not blackmail, or anything else. It is your crime come home to roost. It is retribution."

He paused for a minute. "To have this in order in the shorthand note I will begin with the formation of Consolidated Exploitations. The Public Trustee has the full details of the inception of that company. All I need say is that Otto Rigg was chairman of directors; Hugo Shanly the managing director; Pedden, Maker, and Gamlin directors; and myself secretary with a directorship. I was the youngest, and simplest, of the Board. I was an outsider. I had a reputation as a clever manipulator of finance, a reputation which Otto Rigg and his brother directors assiduously spread."

"Consolidated Exploitations had been in being some time, and all the shares of its two-million-pound capital had been paid up, when the Directors began sending me about here, there, and everywhere, on the Continent and in this country, on the company's business. It was on my return from one of these journeys that I learnt that one of our book-keepers—a Miss Annie Purvis—had been sent to prison for stealing and altering the books. I was rather surprised, and very sorry, for I had thought Miss Purvis an honest and intelligent, even a conscientious girl. My brother directors, however, were able to prove, with regret in their voices, that there was no doubt about the girl's guilt—hypocrisy was always the strong suit of Otto Rigg and Company."

The words were spoken bitterly, scornfully. Otto Rigg stirred under the lash of them, but did not speak. Martin went on:

"If I had only not trusted my fellow directors—if I had only gone into that matter carefully, I should have found out that the girl was innocent, that her one crime was honesty—that, coupled with the fact that she knew too much of the dishonesty of my brother directors, and was threatening to expose them."

"That's a lie!" snarled Otto Rigg. "It is the truth," said Martin, coldly. "I found a note in Hugo Shanly's diary, which sets all doubts at rest. Annie Purvis found that Hugo was tampering with the company's books. She was silenced by a countercharge, and clapped into prison, where she would remain silent. Shall I read Hugo Shanly's note to that effect, Otto Rigg?"

Otto Rigg did not answer. Martin Stannard went on: "If I had only known, Annie Purvis's case was but a forerunner of my own. I, too, was to be dealt with in the same way. I, too, suffered from incurable honesty. Time came when I was ordered by the firm abroad. I was to go to South America—wait, Otto, until I am finished. I was ordered to South America. There was a very delicate bit of business to be done there, business where we had to deal with certain Continental rivals. So that I should take our rivals off their guard, it was agreed that I should book my passage under an assumed name. I did all this, and sailed for South America under that assumed name."

"Lies, lies, lies!" burst out Otto. "You were to go to the United States. You were to go in your own name. This is a tissue of falsehoods to bolster up your story."

"You say so," said Martin, grimly. He lifted a paper. "I have here certain extracts from the papers of Maker, Pedden, and Hugo Shanly on that point. These extracts when linked up make it obvious that my voyage to South America under an assumed name was part of your deliberate plot to make me appear as a criminal fleeing from justice. The voyage to the United States, the buying of a ticket for that destination, and so forth, was also part of that plot. These extracts prove it. They also prove that I never heard of the voyage to the United States, of any voyage other than that to South America. Shall I read the extracts, Otto Rigg? They are final and convincing."

"Damn you!" snarled Otto Rigg. "Damn you!"

"I left for South America under that assumed name," Martin went on evenly. "My destination was four weeks and three days away. Mark that time. Four weeks and two days after I had started a warrant was out for my arrest. I had, it seems, embezzled nearly half of the capital of Consolidated Exploitations, and bolted under an assumed name to South America. I learnt that news in a Buenos Aires newspaper on the same day that I learnt another thing. That other thing was that the group of people I had been sent over to a certain inland town in the Argentine to see was non-existent. I was in that town when I read of my 'crime.'"

"The whole thing was brilliantly and ingeniously managed. I was out there, a month away from home, with all the implications of guilt on me—the voyage to South America, when it should have been to the United States, an assumed name, and my story of being there on business absolutely discredited by the fact that there was nobody there to do business with. I was trapped, firmly trapped, and I knew it."

"I saw that in my month's absence these scoundrels would be able to falsify the books and manipulate money in such a way that I, after being absent so long, could not possibly hope to establish my innocence. I saw that if I went home and faced the music, as was my first intention, my position was hopeless. I should be arrested, charged, and I should lose my case; and, because the crime was a particularly heartless and cruel one, I should be sentenced to a long term of imprisonment. By the time I came out of prison they would be secure, for they would have destroyed all evidence that condemned them."

"I decided not to go back and give myself up. I decided for my own sake, for the sake of those many poor shareholders who had suffered in this cruel crime, to hide from justice—until that time when I could be sure that real justice would be served. Incidentally, I might say that, without reckoning on it, my decision proved a wiser step than I knew. As long as I was not arrested these rogues had to keep the secret papers that they would most willingly have destroyed. In so intricate a fraud as this they dare not dispose of any evidence, even that against themselves, for fear of making slips when, if I were arrested, they had to prepare their own case. I found this was so when I examined the secret papers of Gamlin, Maker, Pedden, and Hugo Shanly. I shall undoubtedly find it so when I examine the papers of Otto Rigg, hidden there in that safe."

Otto Rigg gulped and made a convulsive movement towards the safe, but at a gesture from Mainwaring checked himself.

"Having made my decision, I came by gradual stages to this country and got in touch with my mother, who has been the staunchest friend a man ever had. I found, as I had expected, that though every one connected with Consolidated Exploitations had been ruined, the five directors—not the shareholders, but the five directors only—were surprisingly rich. Pluck and keen business acumen, the world called it. But I knew the real reason, their thefts from Consolidated Exploitations had made them rich."

"It's a lie—prove it!" mumbled Otto. "I set to work to prove it. I studied the whole case. Disguised, I was able to look at the files and records in this Public Trustee's office. I studied the lives of these men, found out their investments, and traced them back to Algoma Stock. That is the root, that is why Otto Rigg flinches at the sound of the name."

"When I had studied the situation as far as I could I came down here. I had to complete my case against them; I had, above all, to build up a case to clear myself. Here, in Greenhaye, when I had completed my hiding-place, I studied the habits of these men, so that I could be certain of approaching them and tackling them."

"Seward Gamlin was the first, deliberately so. He was the weakest, the most easily frightened. My case, not too strong, was strong enough for him. He became panic-stricken. He did what I demanded, he supplied me with facts, and could not prevent me taking his papers. It was no part of my plan to make him commit suicide. That he committed suicide I cannot guarantee. He was a partner in a vile and cruel conspiracy to defraud a number of trusting people. He caused untold misery among those who had lost all through a callous theft. No, I cannot deplore his death."

"His confession and papers strengthened my hand enormously. I was able to put before Henry Maker facts that were absolutely damning. You know how he acted. Maker's papers added strength to my case. So did Pedden's, so did Hugo Shanly's, so that now I have my dual case complete, Otto Rigg—the case which shows me completely innocent, the case which condemns you, Otto Rigg, as the prime mover of one of the vilest and most heartless conspiracies that the human mind ever stooped to. Listen."

Martin Stannard then began to dictate to Joyce detail by detail the whole process of the gigantic fraud, from the moment the first great sum of money was taken from the company, apparently by Martin Stannard, but in reality by Otto Rigg and the other directors, and invested, in the name they intended Martin Stannard to assume, in South American securities. It was a long, brilliant, and intricate process. As the structure of duplicity grew up to the point when all the threads were gathered together again in reinvestment of half a score of amounts of the stolen money in Algoma Stock, the guilt of Otto Rigg and his co-directors was ruthlessly and spidly manifest.

Otto Rigg saw it, he shifted and squirmed under it. And then in a wild cry of fear and rage, he cried, "Stop—stop—"

Martin stopped and stared at him, they all stared at him. He recovered his nerves and wits with a great effort.

"A pretty tissue of lies!" he shouted. "A very pretty display by a scoundrel trying to save his neck. . . . Yes, his neck. The effort of a murderer to obscure his crime. . . . A murderer. The murderer of that poor man Dudley, whom you ought to have arrested, whom I command you to arrest now—now!" Otto Rigg was making his last effort to stop Martin Stannard's mouth.

MORE TROOPS FOR HOME.

UNITS LEAVING SHANGHAI TO-DAY.

Boasting of no battle honours, attracting no tumultuous public acclaim by impressive marches through the streets of Shanghai, a group of British soldiers who will leave on the troopship City of Marseilles, which will sail from Shanghai to-day, February 28.

Yet, these men have occupied key positions in the British military organization which has defended Shanghai, and, moreover, most of them were volunteers for the job of helping to defend this cosmopolitan city, says the Shanghai Times.

The men leaving on this steamer, "time-expired" men, are proceeding to England, either to rejoin their regiments, or to receive their discharge. All these men are attached to the Command headquarters and were detailed to Shanghai on special duty with that part of a military organization, which is absolutely indispensable, but rarely strays into the limelight.

The details going home include men from the following units: 8th Hussars, 11th Hussars, 1st Queen's Royal Regiment, 1st Royal Warwickshires, 1st Suffolks, 2nd Beds, and Herts, 2nd Leicestershires, 1st Lancashires, 1st Essex, 1st King's Own Yorkshire Light Infantry, and the 2nd Rifle Brigade.

These men were selected from the eastern command, at the beginning of the emergency which started last year, for special duties at Headquarters, Shanghai, and they are, in most cases, volunteers. The main party travelled out as far as Hongkong with the Coldstream Guards, where they transhipped on the Karmala and arrived in Shanghai at the beginning of March, a few days before the Guards arrived.

The City of Marseilles is the last troopship to leave Shanghai during the present troopship season, and it is unlikely that any more troops will arrive until the next season, which starts in September. The steamer is due to arrive at Southampton on April 6, Good Friday.

THE HOUSEBREAKER'S JOB.

AN INTERESTING OCCUPATION.

The sight of workmen busily engaged on the demolition of a building always has a great fascination to the onlooker. As the work is of a very dangerous nature, it is surprising how rarely an accident occurs.

The men employed on the wall itself are called "Mattock men," on account of the tool they use, which is like a pick-axe, being somewhat smaller, and with both ends chisel shaped, enabling them to cut away the bricks from the wall in a fairly clean line, without breaking them. As old bricks fetch nearly as good a price as new, they are instructed to work with care.

All fittings, such as doors, fire-places, &c., have to be removed carefully, as they are all saleable. Should they be of old design the price paid for them is often considerable.

Great regard is paid to the safety of the general public on this kind of work. Hoardings and "fens" are erected to prevent any debris from falling on to the heads of passers by. The foreman in charge has to use great discretion as to which way he will commence the "pulling down," as a collapse in the structure would be a serious matter. Therefore, when possible, the top floor is taken first, and so the building is worked to ground level.

When only the skeleton of the building remains the girders are cut away, thus leaving a vacant space for a new erection. Should there be premises on either side these must be "shored" up with heavy timber before the contractor leaves; thereby ensuring their safety, as by taking away one building from among a block of others the supports are often weakened in the foundations.

Many curious finds are made on these jobs, especially if the building is an old one. Coins which have slipped between the floorboards, old-fashioned candlesticks, secret closets, wall safes, &c., all of which have their own particular values to the dealers who follow the workmen from job to job. During excavation of the basement bones are sometimes found; should any of these prove to be human this means a delay in the work, as the job has to be closed down while an inquest is being held upon them.

EMPRESS OF MEXICO'S FORTUNE.

ESTATE APPROACHING £1,500,000.

Her Majesty Charlotte Princess of Belgium, Duchess of Saxony, and Princess of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, widow of the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico, of the Chateau de Bouchout, near Brussels, a sister of the late Leopold II. of Belgium, left estate in England of the value of £116,214. The property abroad is said to exceed £1,250,000.

Letters of administration have been granted to Mr. Arthur Keeling, of Newsquare, Lincoln's Inn, solicitor, attorney for King Albert of Belgium, her nephew, one of the persons entitled to share in the estate.

Copeland Refrigerators

Perhaps not the LAST, but—certainly the LATEST word in

DOMESTIC REFRIGERATION.

It does not appear to be recognised that the Copeland Refrigerator not only gives better cooling—is undoubtedly more hygienic—vastly more convenient—but is actually much more economical than the usual ice chest using raw ice.

The efficiency and design of the Copeland is such that the compressor is driven by an electric motor of only 1/6 horse power.

The cost of operating a Copeland is so economical that after allowing for interest on the first cost at 7% and allowing 10% depreciation, there is still a cash saving of over $40.00 per annum.

Putting it another way, a Copeland pays for itself in 4 years!

We shall be pleased to submit details of this contention to anyone interested.

EX-KAISER 69 TO-DAY.

FASCIST DEPUTY'S BIRTH-DAY DIATRIBE.

Berlin, Jan. 26.
Berlin kiosks to-day showed a placard bearing the motto, "Hail to thee, Oh, Kaiser!"
To-morrow is the ex-Kaiser's sixty-ninth birthday, and Herr Kube, a "Fascist" member of the Reichstag, announces a meeting of celebration for the evening in terms of bitter irony.
"The Republic," he says in his placard, is not at all a bad place to live in especially if you have a good account at the bank and intimate relations with Socialist ex-Chancellors. We are quit of the Kaiser, and now the real friends of the people have taken its fate into their hands.

"Somebody has got to be king, and they have made the American banker, Parker Gilbert, Kaiser of the German labour colony. We pay two and a half milliards a year scutage to the princes of the stock exchange. Come, oppressed people, and show your exploiters how fond you are of your new constitution."
Meantime, the Kreuz Zeitung denounces the "li" that the Kaiser deserted his people.

COMMUNIST DEN?

EIGHT MEN CHARGED.

As a result of a police raid on No. 2 Percival Street on February 11, eight Chinese appeared before Mr. R. E. Lindsell yesterday afternoon, charged with being in possession of a bomb, without the permission of the Captain Superintendent of Police. The defendants were alternatively charged with being in possession of a tin canister packed with earth and gravel, which was charged with three sticks of dynamite, fitted with fuse and detonators, the explosion of which was likely to cause serious injuries and damage to property.

Describing the raid, a Chinese detective said that at 7.30 p.m. on February 11 Sergeant D. Fitches and a number of detectives proceeded to No. 2 Percival Street. The Police party hid on the landing while witness knocked at the door. A slit in the door was pushed aside and a voice enquired what the detective wanted. Witness replied that he was looking for a certain Lau Him, a fictitious name. The answer was not satisfactory and the detective was told that there was no such person on the premises. The slit on the door was closed and no attempt was made to open the door.

The witness again knocked at the door and this time stated that he wanted to enter the premises on a business matter. This caused a stamped inside the premises, whereupon the witness, having failed to get the occupants to open the door entered the adjoining empty flat, the door of which was opposite that of No. 2, on the same landing.

The witness was followed into No. 4 by several other police officers. On entering they found several men on the verandah.

Sergeant Fitches, who gave evidence, said that he actually saw two men climbing across to No. 4 from the verandah of No. 2.

Arms Discovered.

The Chinese detective, who was the first to enter No. 4, with revolver drawn in readiness climbed across the verandah to No. 2. There he met a man in the front room and two others in the passage. Covering these men with his firearm, the detective opened the door and admitted the waiting police into house No. 2.

The men caught in both houses were handcuffed and a systematic search of No. 2 was carried out. Two rattan baskets were found by the police, one of which contained a printing machine, while the other contained a number of pamphlets, including the Red Flag, a small booklet. Formulae relative to the manufacture of explosives were also discovered.

Among other things found in the house was a bomb wrapped in Chinese newspaper, which, according to the Government Analyst, Mr. E. R. Dovey, was a dynamite bomb. Other finds unearthed by the police included two knives, described as burman's knife, which resembled a dagger, and, according to one police witness, could be used as such.

TRUCULENT INDIAN.

BOUND OVER TO BEHAVE.

Mr. D. S. Das, the Indian interpreter of the Kowloon Magistracy, prosecuted a fellow countryman before Mr. W. Schofield yesterday on a charge of using abusive language.

It appeared from the evidence that the defendant, who is a store keeper, was fined $5 last week for disorderly conduct at the Austin Road Market, and after the proceedings in Court he went to the Magistracy office where he began to complain of the injustice of the sentence. He was said to have created a scene in the office and abused the Magistrate as well as the Police.

Mr. Das ordered the man to leave the premises but instead the defendant is alleged to have sworn at the Indian interpreter.

The defendant in court denied the allegations of the prosecution, but after hearing the evidence his Worship bound the defendant over on a personal bond for his future good behaviour.

WRIGHT BIPLANE.

Washington, Feb. 27.

A dispute with the Smithsonian Institution is responsible for the decision of Mr. Orville Wright to send the original Wright biplane to the British Museum.

A widely reproduced magazine article alleges that the Smithsonian officials are conducting a subtle campaign to give the credit for the Wright Brothers' aero-dynamic discoveries to the late Professor Langley, ex-secretary of the institution. The article says that Mr. Wright expresses the belief that the machine will be impartially judged and receive due credit in the British Museum. Reuter's American Service.

American Express Travelers Cheques

Definition of TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES—

"The system of Travellers' Cheques was originated in 1891 by the American Express Company with the object of creating a form of travel currency which would give the holder the security of a letter of credit and at the same time the convenience of local currency. The Company registered the cheques under the trade name of 'AMERICAN EXPRESS TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES' the word 'Travellers' being spelled with one 'l'. The advantage of the Cheques was so apparent that other banking institutions adopted the system."

CHINA MERCHANTS.

SHAREHOLDERS' DEMANDS FOR REFORMS.

Shanghai Chinese papers last week contained a message, which was purported to have been issued by the Minister of Communications of the Nationalist Government, in his capacity as official supervisor of the China Merchants S.N. Co. in connection with the demands of certain shareholders for reforms.
The petition contained very strong statements as to supposed mismanagement of the company's affairs, and the shareholders asked that the Government should cause an investigation to be made and reforms imposed. The petitioners stated that although the committee appointed by the government to reorganize the company had been in existence for over a year, no definite action had been taken, and they alleged that matters had gone from bad to worse.
It was alleged that few of the larger shareholders had seized all of the company's rights and sold China's shipping interests. The discussion of the abuses and to have kept to themselves the company's profits which, since the Great War, had exceeded $100,000,000.

In the message referred to above the Minister of Communications is reported to have ordered the complete reorganization of the company. Action in this connection could be delayed no longer. The aim of the Supervisory Committee, of which he was chairman, desired to protect China's shipping rights, especially, he says, as the company is on the verge of bankruptcy. The time was critical and, if energetic and immediate action were not taken there was no hope whatever for the company's recovery.
The government simply desired to protect the interests of the shareholders and uphold China's shipping rights. It had no further concern in the matter. Should any directors in the past have assumed their responsibilities, but made mistakes, they would be pardoned and it was hoped that they would mend their ways. It was hoped that all would net in accordance with the orders of the government so that the company could be saved. Shareholders should submit ideas with reference to reform and take part in the forthcoming election of directors.

NAVAL MOVEMENTS.

REDUCTIONS & ADDITIONS.

It has been gathered from official sources that a number of changes in the China Squadron will take place during the next few months, the outstanding features of which are the departure of H. M. Ships Argus and Vindictive, and the arrival on the station of H. M. Ships Cumberland and Berwick.

The ship Hollyhock will sail for England from Hongkong on March 7, being relieved by H. M. S. Cornflower from Home on March 4. H. M. S.
Hermes, already on route Home after refit, should arrive here on or about March 19, being preceded by H. M. S.
Cumberland, one of the new class of County cruisers on March 12.

H. M. S. Vindictive will sail for England from Hongkong on March 14
and will be followed by H. M. S.
Argus six days later. The departure of H. M. S. Ambrose and six Submarines, as already announced, is scheduled for March 25, while the Leader Kestrel, and Third Destroyer Flotilla will probably depart hence on May 1.

A further announcement has been made that H. M. S. Concord, with reliefs for units of the Chain Squadron, L. Snagge of H. M. S.
Cumberland, and Third Destroyer Flotilla will be due here in early April, while H. M. S. Berwick, the second of the new cruisers, will leave England on March 3 and will arrive in Hongkong on April 21.

H. M. S. Cornflower is one of the Vernoburn Border class of sloop of 1,250 tons and armed with two 4 inch guns. She has been recommissioned from the Navy Reserve.

H. M. S. Berwick and H. M. S.
Cumberland are newly built cruisers of the County class, both commissioned during the past few months. These vessels carry eight 8 inch guns as primary armament, with other weapons of smaller calibre. Captain R. S. Wykes-Smyed, D. S. O., is in command of H. M. S. Berwick and Quentin A. L. Snagge of H. M. S.
Cumberland. The Third Flotilla com-
sists H. M. S. Kestrel (Leader), H. M.
Ships Verity, Veteran, Wanderer, Withington, Wishart, Wild Swan, Wivern and Wolverine.

HELP FOR REFUGEES.

ASSISTANCE FOR HOIFUNG VICTIMS.

Sometime ago, representatives of the Hoifung and Lukfung refugees in Hongkong and Canton appealed to the Commercial Chambers and charity societies for help.
A Hoi-Luk-Fung Relief Society was subsequently formed in Canton and two days ago its representative arrived in Hongkong to investigate the exact number of the refugees now in the Colony.
Shortly after his arrival he was accompanied by representatives of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and of the Tung Wah Hospital to pay visits to Shaikwan and Shumshui where most of the refugees are living.

As a result of the investigation it is revealed that there are about 20,000 to 30,000 now in Hongkong and the New Territories and it is feared there will be some difficulty in carrying out relief work among them on account of their number.
However, the management of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and of the Tung Wah Hospital are of the opinion that if the Canton Government will send troops to exterminate the Communists in Hoifung and Lukfung they will be able to collect the available funds from Hongkong and Canton merchants to convey these thousands of refugees back to their homes and provide them with provisions.

BALKAN DISPUTE.

MUSSOLINI ACCUSED OF RAISING TROUBLE.

Paris, Feb. 27.
The newspapers are closely watching the Austro-Italian dispute which the People accuses M.
Mussolini of trumping up in order to distract attention from an incident into which the League of Nations is at present enquiring, namely the smuggled machine-gun parts recently discovered on the Austro-Hungarian frontier, allegedly consigned from Italy to Hungary.

Volonte, however, says that M.
Mussolini will not succeed in the attempt but will find now that he will have two troublesome affairs on his hands instead of one.

On the contrary Gaulois sees in the Austrian protests the hidden influence of Germany working for an Austro-German union.—Reuter.

FLYING BOATS.

EXPECTED IN SINGAPORE THIS MORNING.

London, Feb. 27.
The four large all-metal Royal Air Force flying boats which left Plymouth on October 7 on a 23-000 miles course to the Far East and Australia will arrive in Singapore to-morrow. The machines will then have flown 10,000 miles. The fleet have already accomplished the longest flying boat formation flight in the history of aviation.
The schedule has, throughout the flight, been punctually adhered to and no mishap has occurred.
At Singapore the craft will have reached their base, where they will ultimately form the nucleus of a Far East Air Fleet, designed to work in conjunction with the English naval forces. Before taking up these duties they will proceed to Port Darwin and thereafter make an Australian coast cruise.—*British

PEACE IN COTTON INDUSTRY.EARNEST ATTEMPTS TO REACH COMPROMISE.

REASONS FOR CRISIS.

London, Feb. 27.
The joint conference of the cotton employers and the operatives leaders held at Manchester to-day, after a discussion lasting for over four hours, adjourned untill Monday next without coming to a decision.
An official statement issued states that the representatives of the operatives handed the employers a note, expressing regret that the latter were not in favour of the establishment of a Statutory Committee to enquire into the position of the industry.
The note also declared that neither the wages paid nor the 48-hour week were causes of the unsatisfactory state of the industry.
The real causes would be found elsewhere.

Impartial Inquiry Urged.

An independent and impartial inquiry was most likely to diagnose the causes correctly and the operatives cannot agree to the employers' proposals to appoint a Committee of twelve representatives of each side to consider the factors of the cost of production of yarn cloth, and to report within a month how production costs can be reduced so as to secure a greater volume of trade.

The employers, in reply, pointed out that they have withdrawn definitely, the specific recommendations for the reduction of wages and an increase of hours, but they have not withdrawn the question of investigating the effect of the present wages and hours upon their competitive power.

The employers would collaborate with the operatives in ascertaining any facts mutually agreed to be germane to the question.
The conference adjourned to enable the operatives' representatives to consider the employers' last proposal.—Reuter.

WASHINGTON HOURS
CONVENTION.WHY BRITAIN WILL NOT RATIFY.

London, Feb. 27.
A debate was initiated in the House of Commons by Mr. Shaw, Minister of Labour in the late Labour Government, on the Washington Hours Convention.
Mr. Shaw charged the Government with failing to ratify the Convention.

Mr. Birtch, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Labour, replied, pointing out that the British delegates to Washington were not plenipotentiaries and that what they signed was not a Treaty but a Draft Convention. He mentioned many Draft Conventions which had never been ratified by various countries.

Before this country could ratify the Convention, said Mr. Birtch, it had to bring the law of the country into conformity with the Convention. He declared:—"We are not prepared to ratify, because, in our view, there are at this moment agreements in existence affecting many hundreds of thousands of workers, which agreements we believe are valuable instruments for the maintenance of industrial peace. We believe these agreements would be imperilled, and this result would be a calamity, and it is a risk we are not prepared to take."—*British

JAPANESE POLITICAL RIOT.

SERIOUS CLASH WITH POLICE.

Tokyo, Feb. 28.
Several police, including two officers, were injured last night when a crowd, estimated at over a thousand, clashed with a strong detachment sent to watch over a Proletarian Party meeting.

The main trouble arose when the police, after suppressing several speakers, closed the doors and refused admittance to hundreds who were wishing to enter.

Bricks and stones were freely used as missiles.
Reinforcements for the police were hastily rushed up before the infuriated mob was dispersed.

A number of persons are reported to have been seriously injured during the melee and about a hundred were arrested.—Reuter.

Press Comment.

London, Feb. 28.
The newspapers commend the promptitude of the Government's action with regard to the France case, as well as the courage and candour of the framers of the report.

They agree that the punishment of the officials concerned is none too severe, though the Daily Telegraph appears to find some extenuation in what it describes as the inadequacy of the salaries of higher officials in the Foreign Office.

While all commentators regret the revelations, the view is expressed that the report has amply vindicated the honourable traditions of the Civil Service.—Reuter.

The Board of Inquiry.

The following were the members of the Special Board of Inquiry: Sir Warren Fisher,
G.C.B., G.C.V.O., Permanent Secretary to the Treasury; Sir Malcolm Ramsay, K.C.B., Comptroller and Auditor-General; and Mr. M.
L. Gwyer, C.B., H.M. Procurator-
General and Solicitor to the Treasury. Sir Warren Fisher is the head of the Civil Service; Mr.
Gwyer fulfilled every legal qualification that could be desired;
while Sir Malcolm Ramsay is by virtue of his office independent of and apart from the Civil Service of the Crown.

SIR PAUL CHATER'S
CODICIL.

In matters which concerned the company and that upon his retirement, or in the event of his death, by his will, he could appoint a person or persons suitable for filling the appointment.

After quoting from the Memorandum, Mr. Potter submitted that during Sir Paul's lifetime he could have made alternative appointments of any number, and in the same way he was clearly entitled to do so by will. The intention of the Memorandum was to give him the same power under his will as he had during his lifetime.

Desired Status.

At the time Mr. Bagram's nomination and appointment became effective, Mr. Potter argued, he was a qualified person, and Mr. Potter submitted that there was nothing in the memorandum to prevent his acting as permanent managing director.

Reading from the judgment Mr.
Potter quoted "In my opinion the formation on August 19, 1926, of the Hongkong Finance and Investment Co., Ltd. did not in fact clothe Mr. Bagram with the desired status. At its best this was merely a titular qualification.
But even as a title it is in my opinion insufficient. The defect appears when it is sought to apply to this limited company the words
'so long as such corporation carries on business in the Colony.'
This corporation has at no time fulfilled this provision as will be clear from the statement of facts, included in the earlier portion of the judgment."

Main Object to Qualify.

Replying to the quoted part of the judgment, Mr. Potter submitted that the company had in fact carried on business. He said it was irrelevant to look into the books of a company to discover whether it was actually carrying on business; it was utterly irrelevant to say that once there was a life company on the register it was not carrying on business.

Mr. Bagram had freely admitted that the main object of the company was to qualify. If a person was entitled to do a certain thing he was entitled to do it.

Sir Henry Gollan: He was entitled to form the company but the question arises whether the company actually carried on business or whether it was merely an attempt to get over a difficulty.

Mr. Potter: If the company is alive, is registered and has an office, it is carrying on business.

He submitted there was no happy medium. His view as to what carrying on business meant, had either to be accepted, or else
each case had to be investigated.

Court Not To Question Merits.

Sir Peter Grain:—So long as the individual is technically qualified the Court has to be satisfied?

Mr. Potter:—Quite. The testator having made an appointment it is not for you to question the merits of it.

The case is proceeding.

OUTBREAK OF WAR
RECALLED.DEATH OF FORMER GERMAN AMBASSADOR.

PRINCE LICHNOWSKY.

London, Feb. 27.
Memories of the outbreak of the War are recalled by the news from Breslau of the death of Prince Lichnowsky, who was German Ambassador in London at that time.

It is recalled how he was personally unfavourable to war with Great Britain and was in great grief when the peace efforts failed.

Barely six months ago, Prince Lichnowsky visited England and renewed some of his old friendships.
—British Wireless.

The late Prince Lichnowsky was 65 years old, and was the head of a Silesian family of ancient aristocratic lineage, with large estates at Kuchelna and Gratz. His mother was a Princess of Croy. The son of a Prussian General of Cavalry, he himself began life as a soldier, and was a brother-officer of the ex-Kaiser in the Life Guard Hussars.
The Emperor, recognizing the exceeding good birth of the Lichnowskys, frequently addressed the Prince with the appellation of equality, "du." During "Chancellor crises" Prince Lichnowsky was frequently mentioned as a logical possibility for the Premiership. He was born friend of Prince Bulow and, contrary to the example of others, remained loyal to the fallen Chancellor after the latter's totter from grace. Prince Lichnowsky, strangely enough, began his diplomatic career as an attaché in London forty years ago. When he was appointed Ambassador, he said he felt, in returning to England, like a man going back home. Although a Roman Catholic, Prince Lichnowsky never identified himself with the Clerical Centre Party or its ultra-montane politics. Nominally a Conservative, he revealed distinct traces of Liberalism during the bitter controversy over Prussian Franchise Reform in 1910. His wife, who was predestined to make a deep impression on London society, was, like her husband, a clever writer.
